NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

Subject: Payment compliance

Allegrini, as a manufacturer of Surgical Medical Devices, is continuing its activity in order to ensure the supply of disinfectant products and hand wash gel to all areas, health and civil, necessary to prevent the risk of infection with coronavirus.

For this reason, it is important, especially at this time, the collaboration of each of our customers, to whom we ask to fulfill, within the established terms, the payments of previous and future supplies.

Any denials or delays in payments put the company and its exposure in serious difficulties, as well as all the production companies with which it is collaborating in order to carry out the essential activities for the common good.

Allegrini in fact responds to the same obligations towards its suppliers, as well as its collaborators, who work tirelessly in order to satisfy every request, while facing the difficulties of being in the epicenter of the epidemic.

The company cannot run the risk of failing the responsibility and moral duty to keep stable not only its reality, but also that of the families who work there and of the entire economic system.

Therefore, we strongly invite all our customers to kindly honor the supply and payment agreements with our company and to return a prompt response, even if it has difficulty in fulfilling the existing obligations.

Particular needs will be for sure evaluated to overcome together this difficult phase that involves our life, both social and economic.

Thanks for the precious collaboration.
